ROWAN STREET FARMER'S MARKET BY-LAWS

2006

1. Each former will follow all the state laws for the SFMNP and the state laws for farmer's markets.
2. Any new members must be voted on by the president and the market coordinator.
3. Each farm will be subject to bi-yearly inspections by the president and the market coordinator. Inspections can be done at any time during the year.
4. A farmer can sell for another farmer as long as the product is labeled as to where it came from and both farmers are members of the Rowan Street Farmer's Market.
5. A farmer may only sell Kentucky grown produce. No other items such as meats, eggs, jams, breads, or crafts will be allowed. Farmers may not buy and resale any item from a terminal or other farmers that are not members of the Rowan Street Farmer's Market.
6. A farmer must attend at least one full day a week to be eligible for the following week's bagged deliveries. They will need to have their product delivered to 3834 Lilly Pike, Taylorsville by no later than 4:00 p.m. on the day before scheduled delivery dates. If those farmers cannot meet the delivery needs, then the members who did not attend the market that week will be asked for their produce. Any farmer who participates in the bagged deliveries will be asked to purchase at least 1 box of bags per year. They may also be asked to help box the bags up for delivery from time to time. In the event, that a farmer fails to provide the produce that he or she has committed to provide for that weeks bags, that farmer will need to be approved by the market coordinator and president to continue to participate in the bagged deliveries. It is very important to fulfill these deliveries and proper planning is necessary to ensure the proper amount of produce is to be available when needed.
7. Each farmer will be subject to a $45.00 membership fee. This will be used to purchase any and all necessary products to ensure the market runs smoothly, such as ink stamps, postal needs, checking account fees, etc. Dues will be deducted from the first check issued. If the state changes over from the SFMNP coupons to SFMNP checks, this will be expected to be paid be the end of June. Failure to pay membership dues will be grounds for immediate termination.
8. Any farmer that does not follow the by-laws will be issued a letter of termination as a member of the Rowan Street Farmer's Market. No fees will be refunded upon termination. If a letter is received, it must be signed by the president and the market coordinator.
9. No changes in positions or rules will be made during the market year unless a meeting is called and the market coordinator and president agree upon the changes.
10. All complaints must be in writing and sent to the market coordinator, LaDonna Barrick, 4689 Little Union Road, Taylorsville, Ky 40071. The problem will be solved as fairly and quickly as possible.
